Doug Glovaski

Doug Glovaski is a California-based artist living and working in Spreckels, Monterey County. A professional artist for over thirty years, his work has been featured in numerous solo and group exhibitions and is held in major collections including the San Jose Museum of Art, Monterey Museum, Crocker Museum, Manetti/Shrem Museum, Triton Museum, de Saisset Museum, the Achenbach Collection at the Legion of Honor, and Harvard's Fogg Museum.

Largely self-taught, Glovaski grew up between Santa Cruz and San Jose, developing an early passion for drawing and painting. After working in Silicon Valley, he committed himself fully to art at age 35, first showing in San Jose cafés and galleries, including a decade-long partnership with the Frederick Spratt Gallery. He later worked with the San Jose Museum of Art and SFMOMA as an installer, and exhibited for nearly eighteen years with Dolby/Chadwick Gallery in San Francisco. Today, Glovaski is represented by galleries and art consultants across the country and continues to create new work from his Spreckels studio.
